

If Only You'd Come Back

By Shayla Collins

You have great wisdom
You have power and authority because of the good in your heart
You have destroyed much evil
And have conquered many beasts
You know many nations and many kings
I have blessed you with beauty and confidence
You are fearless with my name
You have come to master the good side, the Truth
I have taught you everything I know and trust you
You were my powerful warrior
My son, you loved me
You honored and respected me
My wishes, my knowledge
You came to me for guidance
However, now you spit upon it
Tell me, what has happened?
What have I done?
I need you my child
I love you
Where are you going?
How long will you be away?
Everything we've shared
Have you forgotten?
I love you so
But I am forced to fight you

You give me no choice

Every time you attack me

It kills me to think that I taught you the same skills you're using to hunt me

Every time I have to swing at you

A bigger piece of my heart breaks

I used to look, and see truth, love and life in your eyes

My son, your eyes are now filled with hate and ruin

How could this happen?

I love you so much

I have no choice

I have to stop your destruction

You pick a fight and bring death upon yourself

Do you not see the decision you've made has turned your heart black?

Cold to the one whom has raised you?

Who has cared for you when you were sick?

Who raised you to fight against the very evil you have become?

Why do you hate me so?

I love you so much

I want you back...

If only you'd come back